

Felix Sladen-Jewell

Awarded '23

The MRF Young composers scheme has been enormously helpful in developing me as a composer. My mentoring sessions have helped me to try new things and different ways of composing and have helped me compose a piece that I am very proud of.

The scheme exceeded my expectations greatly as I did not expect to get this quality of mentoring and performance.

In the future, I am hoping to attend a conservatoire to study composition and the MRF scheme will help greatly not only as something to put on my personal statement and talk about in interviews, but also with all the valuable skills I learned from the experience.

Thank you MRF!

Felix has accepted an offer to study undergraduate composition at the Royal College of Music from Sept. '24. Congratulations, Felix!
